The Chancellor's Winter Economic Plan

Chancellor Sunak received widespread praise for his business support measures introduced following the onset of the coronavirus pandemic. Many businesses and individuals have benefited from a range of schemes, including furlough grants for staff unable to work, grants for the self-employed, deferral of VAT and Income Tax payments and cheap, government-backed business loans.

With the second wave of coronavirus infections upon us, many areas of the UK are entering a form of lockdown, forcing some businesses to close partially or completely. To help these businesses survive, the Chancellor has introduced two forms of Job Support Scheme: JSS Open and JSS Closed, both of which start from 1 November 2020.

The JSS Open requires the employee to work at least 20% of their normal hours, but government will fund 61.67% of the remaining hours when they are not working, capped at £1,541.75 per month. The employer will bear the cost of 5% of the value of the employees' furloughed time (capped at £125 per month) plus the employer's National Insurance Contributions (NIC) and minimum pension contributions on all the wages paid.

The JSS Closed only covers situations where the business has been legally required to close its premises to customers due to coronavirus regulations. The employee will receive two-thirds of their normal pay, funded by the government, subject to a cap of £2,083.33 per month. The employer must pay employer's NIC and pension contributions due on those wages.

Businesses in the hospitality and leisure sectors, which have been adversely affected by coronavirus, can also apply for cash grants from their local authority of up to £3,000 per month, where the premises is required to close.

In addition, under the Job Retention Bonus, employers will be able to apply for a £1,000 per head bonus for each staff member who was previously furloughed, if they continue to employ them from 31 October to 31 January 2021 and pay them an average of at least £520 per month over this period. Employers will also be able to use the Kickstart Scheme to give young people six months' government-paid work experience.

There are to be further grants for the self-employed. For those who qualified, the first two grants were based on 80% and 70% of previously reported profits, but the third grant will be based on 40% of profits. Details of the fourth grant have not yet been announced.

Further VAT and Income Tax deferrals will also be available in 2021, to help the cashflow of businesses and individuals.

In this newsletter we explain what has been announced so far on these new business support measures. •

1 Job Support Scheme for open businesses (JSS Open)

The JSS Open is designed to help employers keep some valuable employees working on a part-time basis over the winter period from November 2020 to April 2021, rather than make them redundant. It replaces the Coronavirus Job Retention Scheme (CJRS), which ends on 31 October 2020.

The JSS Open is arguably more generous than the CJRS had become, as the grant covers wages for 66.66% of the employee's furloughed time, compared to the 60% that was provided under the CJRS for October.

Under JSS Open, the employer pays the employee at their contracted rate for all the hours actually worked, which must be at least 20% of their usual hours. The employee will receive pay for two thirds of the time that they are not working, with the employer paying 5% of that time (capped at £125 per month), and the JSS grant covering the remaining 61.67% of the furloughed time (capped at £1,541.75 per month). When working part-time, an employee should receive a minimum of 73.33% of their normal wages, where the contributions for non-working hours have not been capped.

The scheme is flexible, in that employees are able to move in and out of the JSS Open by pay period, as long as each claim period lasts for at least seven days.

Example

Joe is a bus driver employed by Bus Ltd on an annual salary of £36,000, or £3,000 per month. In a normal month he would work 225 hours, which is £13.33 per hour.

Joe has agreed to work 45 hours per month for £600. Under JSS Open, he can be paid for two-thirds of his 180 unworked hours (i.e. 120 hours). Bus Ltd must pay Joe for 5% of the 180 hours (9 hours for £120). The government should pay for a further 111 of those non-working hours at a total of £1,479.63.

Joe receives pay of £2,199.63 (600+120+1,479.63), which is 73.33% of his normal pay.

Bus Ltd must bear the cost of £720 (600 + 120) of Joe's wages, plus the employer's NIC on the full amount paid of £2,199.63 and any relevant workplace pension contributions the employer usually pays.

Which employees qualify?

All employees on the payroll as at 23 September 2020 can qualify for both versions of JSS, Open and Closed (covered in section 2), if they had pay reported on at least one real-time information (RTI) return submitted in 2019/20 or before midnight on 23 September 2020. There is no requirement for the employee to have been previously furloughed.

Annually paid directors can qualify for either JSS, if they received their last annual payment in the period 6 April 2019 to 23 September 2020, and it was reported under RTI.

Employees who are already on notice for redundancy, or who have been made redundant, can't be included on a JSS claim. However, if the employee left the payroll after 23 September 2020 and was rehired by the same employer at a later date, they can be included in a JSS claim.

Which employers qualify?

Any small or medium-sized employer with a UK bank account can use the JSS if some or all of their employees are working reduced hours.

Large employers (250 or more employees at 23 September 2020) can only use the JSS if their recent VAT returns show that sales have remained level or dipped compared to 2019. These employers will also have to refrain from paying dividends or capital distributions to shareholders or partners while claiming under the JSS.

When is the claim made?

The employer must pay wages to the employee first and then make a claim for the JSS through an online portal, which will open on 8 December 2020. The employer will be paid the JSS grant once each month, but only after the RTI return that reports the employee's wages has been received by HMRC.

The JSS grant can only be used as reimbursement for wage costs actually paid.

2 Job Support Scheme for closed businesses (JSS Closed)

As the COVID-19 infection rates rise, local shutdowns are being imposed in various parts of the UK, resulting in certain categories of business being required to close.

On 23 October HMRC released details of the JSS Closed, which will cover two-thirds of the wages of furloughed employees, where the business premises has been required by law to close to customers but not where the business has chosen to close because of insufficient customers. However, where businesses have been restricted to delivery or collection-only services from their premises, or have been restricted to provision of food and/or drink outdoors, they will qualify.

When does it apply?

Any claims due to business shutdowns up until 31 October 2020 must be made under the existing furloughing rules, using the Coronavirus Job Retention Scheme. The JSS Closed applies from 1 November 2020 to 30 April 2021. To qualify, the employee must be furloughed for periods of at least 7 days at a time. Also, the employee must be on the employer's payroll and included on an RTI return by that employer on or before 23 September 2020.

The employer will have to pay two-thirds of an employee's usual wage, plus any employer's NIC and the minimum employer's pension contributions due in respect of those wages, upfront. The employer will then claim back the cost of those wages from HMRC (capped at £2,083.33 per month), but not the NIC or pension contributions.

Who will bear the cost?

Under the JSS Closed, the cost of keeping the staff on the payroll is split between the government, the employer and the employee, with the employer bearing a relatively small amount to cover employer's NIC and pension contributions.

The employee must give up one third of their wages and will have to agree in writing to that change in their employment contract if they are not already on a zero-hours contract.

When will employers get the refund?

The online portal to claim under the local job support scheme will open on 8 December 2020. Until then employers will have to use cash reserves, or borrow, to pay their employees' wages.

The employer will have to prove that the staff wages have been paid, by submitting an RTI return, before HMRC will provide a refund of those costs. This is to avoid the instances of fraud and abuse which were apparent under the CJRS.

3 Job Retention Bonus

Employers can claim a one-off bonus from HMRC of £1,000 for each of their employees who were previously furloughed and whom they kept on in a paid role from November 2020 until 31 January 2021.

This bonus is to encourage employers to keep those employees on the payroll for a further three months when the Coronavirus Job Retention Scheme (CJRS) ends on 31 October 2020.

The employee must meet all of these conditions if the employer is to qualify for the bonus:

- be furloughed by the employer before 31 October 2020
- be included in at least one eligible CJRS claim by that employer
- receive taxable pay reported under RTI for each of these tax months:
 - 6 November – 5 December
 - 6 December – 5 January
 - 6 January – 5 February
- have pay reported of at least £1,560 by that employer in total over those months
- not be on statutory or contractual notice for termination of employment during that period, including termination due to retirement.

Where the employee's wages are subsidised under the JSS Open or JSS Closed, the employer will still qualify for the £1,000 bonus if the above conditions are met.

Company directors can also qualify for this bonus if all the above conditions are met, as can agency workers and contractors who are employed by umbrella companies.

The employer needs to claim the bonus for each employee between 15 February and 31 March 2021. Before paying out the bonus, HMRC will check that the employer has filed each RTI return accurately and on time for all periods from 6 April 2020 to 5 February 2021.

The employer must also deal with all requests from HMRC to provide missing employee data in respect of historic CJRS claims and have a UK bank account.

The bonus will be taxable income for the business, subject to corporation tax or income tax as appropriate. However, where the bonus is paid to an individual in respect of their employee who is a nanny or a member of domestic staff, the bonus is not classed as part of the individual employer's taxable income for the year.

4 Self-Employed Income Support Scheme (SEISS)

There have been two rounds of grant support for the self-employed (SEISS-1 and SEISS-2) and the Chancellor has announced there will be two further SEISS grants, covering the six months from November 2020 to April 2021.

The third grant (SEISS-3) will be calculated at 40% of your average monthly profits, based on the same profit figures as were used to calculate the SEISS-1 and SEISS-2 grants. These were derived from your self-employed profits as reported on your tax returns for 2016/17 to 2018/19, or the portion of that period when you were self-employed.

You will qualify for the SEISS-3 grant if all of the following apply:

- you were eligible for the previous SEISS grants (even if you didn't apply for them); and either
- you are currently actively trading, but are impacted by reduced demand due to coronavirus; or
- you were previously trading but are temporarily unable to do so due to coronavirus.

We don't yet know when applications will open for the SEISS-3 grant, but we do know it will be capped at £3,750 for three months, working out at £1,250 per month.

A fourth grant (SEISS-4) will be payable for three months to help you survive from February to April 2021. We don't know how much that grant will be or what the cap will be. The qualifying conditions for the SEISS-4 grant are likely to be similar to those for the SEISS-3 grant.

The profits used as the basis for the SEISS-4 grant will also be your average annual profits derived from your tax returns for 2016/17 to 2018/19, although by the time applications open in February 2021 your tax return for 2019/20 will have been submitted (deadline is 31 January 2021).

5 Kickstart Scheme

This scheme sounds like a great idea at first sight. The government will pay the wages and associated employment costs of your new employees who are aged 16 to 24 and who come directly to you from claiming universal credit.

The government support will cover the employee's wages paid at the national minimum wage rate for 25 hours per week, for six months, plus the employer's National Insurance Contributions and the minimum amount of employer's contributions to a workplace pension. You can top up those wages, or pay for further hours, if you wish.

What's more, the government will pay you £1,500 for each employee you take on, to help cover training, uniforms and other set-up costs.

However, there are a number of conditions which could take the shine off the Kickstart scheme.

The jobs created must not replace any of the following:

- existing or planned vacancies
- people who have been made redundant
- contractors used by the business

Also, each employer, or group of employers, must create at least 30 job opportunities under the Kickstart scheme. This might seem a big hurdle, but you can work with an intermediary organisation to be part of a group of employers that achieve the 30-job minimum threshold.

Organisations such as local authorities, charities and trade bodies across the country are all setting up partnership arrangements to allow local businesses to come together to apply for the Kickstart programme.

Finally, there are two training conditions for Kickstart.

1. The job placement must only require basic training.
2. Your business must demonstrate how it will help the new employees become more employable by developing basic skills.

You can't advertise your Kickstart job placements directly, as the DWP Job Centre staff will choose the applicants from the pool of young Universal Credit claimants. However, you will have the final say on whom you employ from the candidates offered.

6 Tax deferrals

At the beginning of the coronavirus pandemic, the government gave individuals and businesses the option to defer, until 2021, payments of Income Tax due by 31 July 2020 and VAT due in the period 20 March to 30 June 2020.

In both cases, you could pay the tax or VAT by the original due date if you wished, but no interest or late payment penalties would be added to those deferred tax debts.

However, roll on to 31 January 2021 and you may be looking at four different amounts of tax becoming due for payment:

- a) Second payment on account for 2019/20 (deferred from 31 July 2020)
- b) Balancing payment for 2019/20
- c) Capital Gains Tax for 2019/20 (if not paid under the new 30-day rule for UK residential property)
- d) First payment on account for 2020/21

Taxpayers with up to £30,000 of self-assessment liabilities due on 31 January 2021, whether deferred from July 2020 or otherwise, can pay in 12 monthly instalments under the time to pay arrangements. This means the final payment will not be due until January 2022. Where the total tax due does not exceed £30,000, an application (made online) for deferral will be automatically granted.

If the total tax due exceeds £30,000, or you need longer to pay, you will be able to call HMRC to agree a bespoke payment plan.

Where you have deferred VAT which was due in the period from 20 March to 30 June 2020, that VAT will be payable by 31 March 2021. However, you will be able to apply to spread the deferred VAT payment over smaller instalments through until March 2022. This deferred VAT will not be subject to interest or penalties if the payments are made on the dates as agreed.

7 Statutory Sick Pay refunds

If you are a small employer, you can reclaim some of the Statutory Sick Pay (SSP) paid to your employees if that SSP was due to COVID-19 symptoms or isolation rules (see below).

To be eligible for this rebate scheme, your business must meet all of these conditions:

- Employed fewer than 250 employees on 28 February 2020 across all payrolls
- Commenced your PAYE scheme before 28 February 2020; and
- Was not in financial difficulty on 31 December 2019

In addition, when your SSP rebate is added to other state aid that your business has received over the last two years, it must not take the total of state aid above the limit set for your trade sector:

- aquaculture and fisheries: €120,000
- agriculture: €100,000
- any other sector: €800,000

In order to be included in a refund claim, the SPP must have been paid to an employee who meets one of the following conditions on or after the date shown:

- has symptoms of coronavirus (12 March)
- lives with, or is in a linked or extended household with, someone who has symptoms (13 March)
- is shielding, in accordance with public health guidance (16 April)
- has been informed that they have had contact with a person who was, at the time of the contact, infected with coronavirus (28 May)
- lives with someone who has tested positive for coronavirus (30 July)
- has tested positive for coronavirus (isolation extended to 10 days from 5 August)
- is staying at home for three or four days prior to being admitted to hospital for surgery (26 August)

You can't reclaim SSP paid to employees in relation to other health conditions, so a person who isolated before surgery can get COVID-19-related SSP for that isolation period, but not for the day of the surgery or for recovery days.

SSP is not payable to employees who need to quarantine for 14 days on returning to the UK, unless the individual also meets one of the above COVID-19 conditions.

You can make more than one SSP rebate claim for an employee if, for example, the individual is shielding and then at a later date tests positive for coronavirus. However, you can only recover SSP for the first 14 days of any one COVID-19 absence. The maximum rebate you can claim for each employee is for 14 days of SSP in total per employee.

It is not possible to make a claim under the Coronavirus Job Retention Scheme (CJRS) and the SSP rebate scheme for the same employee for the same period.

The SSP rebate is claimed through HMRC's PAYE online system. We can do that for you. The claims can cover multiple pay periods back to when these rules came in.

8 Reduced VAT rate

To help the hospitality and tourist sectors through the pandemic, the government reduced the VAT due on key sales in those sectors from 20% to 5% from 15 July 2020. This reduced rate was due to revert to 20% on 13 January 2021, but this will now not happen until 1 April 2021.

Crucially, you don't have to reduce your prices to pass on the VAT rate reduction to your customers; instead, you can keep your prices constant and enjoy the extra profit margin. However, you do need to account for the correct amount of VAT to HMRC.

The 5% rate applies to the following categories of sales:

- Food and drink sold for consumption on the premises, excluding alcoholic drinks
- Hot takeaway food and hot takeaway drinks, excluding alcoholic drinks
- Holiday accommodation, which includes bookings for hotels, caravan sites, guest houses, and camp sites

Admission fees to tourist attractions such as zoos, theatres, fairs, and amusement parks. There are exceptions in these broad categories, for example:

- Sporting events are excluded from the reduced rate, but live performances of cultural events may be exempt from VAT
- Hire of equipment, such as skates or paintball

guns, must be charged at 20% VAT

- Where the charge is for individual fairground rides and not an admission fee, it must be charged at 20% VAT

Some attractions charge the customer one indivisible fee for admission and another item, such as a printed guide, in which case the whole price is subject to the 5% VAT rate.

The temporary 5% rate also applies to advance bookings for accommodation in 2021 if the invoice is issued, or payment made by the customer, before 31 March 2021.

If you use the VAT flat rate scheme for small businesses, the flat rate you need to apply has been reduced for these sectors:

- catering services, including restaurants and takeaways
- hotel or accommodation
- pubs

As the VAT rate changed in the middle of a month (15 July), the figures for your VAT return covering that period will need extra attention. For peace of mind, ask us to check the calculations for you.

9 Business Support loans

To help businesses survive the pandemic, the government has created four different loan schemes to help different types of businesses:

- Bounce Back Loan Scheme (BBLs)
- Future Fund
- Coronavirus Business Interruption Loan Scheme (CBILS); and
- Coronavirus Large Business Interruption Loan Scheme (CLBILS)

Bounce Back Loan Scheme

This provides loans of between £2,000 and £50,000 to businesses who apply to a high street lender using a relatively simple online form.

The amount you can borrow is capped at the lower of 25% of your annual turnover and £50,000. The application form will ask you for details of your turnover for the period that ended in the year to 31 March 2020, but you can estimate that figure.

Applications can be made up until 30 November 2020 and the lender has until 31 December to approve or reject your application. You also need to confirm that your business was not in financial trouble at 31 December 2019 and that you haven't been given a loan under one of the other coronavirus loan schemes (discussed below).

Once you have the loan, you won't have to make a repayment within the first 12 months. The government will cover any fees and interest accruing in that first year. The interest charged on these loans will be set at 2.5%.

The Chancellor has also announced that the terms of the loan will be made flexible for the business under a "Pay as You Grow" flexible payment system.

The term of the loan can be set to up to ten years and the lender should offer payment holidays and interest-only periods on request.

The Bounce Back loans carry a 100% government guarantee, so there is no need for the business owner to provide collateral, or to prove that the business will be viable once the coronavirus crisis is over.

If you have received a loan of up to £50,000 under the CBILS, you can apply before 4 November 2020 to transfer it into the Bounce Back Loan Scheme.

Future Fund

This scheme provides funding to private companies, where the advance can be matched by private investors in those companies. The company can apply even if it has not made a profit or it has not made its first sales.

The loan provided may range from £125,000 to £5m and can be convertible into equity. Applications for this fund will close on 30 November 2020.

A company can qualify for funding under this scheme if:

- it was incorporated in the UK on or before 31 December 2019, or is an overseas parent company incorporated before that date
- it has raised at least £250,000 in equity investment from third-party investors in the period 1 April 2015 to 19 April 2020
- it does not have any of its shares or other securities listed on a regulated market, a multilateral trading facility, a recognised investment exchange and/or any other similar market, stock exchange or listing venue
- where the company is part of a corporate group, it is the parent company

Also, the company must either have at least half of its employees based in the UK or raise at least half of its sales revenue from UK customers.

There are additional conditions where the parent company is not based in the UK.

The money raised under the Future Fund must not be used by the company to:

- repay any borrowings from a shareholder or a shareholder-related party (other than the repayment of any borrowings pursuant to any bank or venture debt facilities)

- pay any dividends or other distributions
- pay any bonus or other discretionary payment to any employee, consultant or director of the company, other than as contracted prior to the date of the finance and as paid by the company in the ordinary course of business (this applies for the first 12 months of the finance agreement);
- pay any advisory or placement fees, or bonuses to any corporate finance entity or investment bank or similar service provider, on monies advanced by the Future Fund

Coronavirus Business Interruption Loan Scheme (CBILS)

These loans are delivered by the British Business Bank to provide support to primarily medium-sized businesses.

Finance of up to £5 million per business can be advanced or supported under this scheme, in the form of term loans, overdrafts, invoice finance or asset finance. Applications can be made up until 30 November 2020.

You are eligible to use CBILS if your business meets all these criteria:

- it is UK-based
- has turnover of up to £45 million per year
- would be viable were it not for the coronavirus crisis; and
- has been adversely affected by the coronavirus pandemic

Where the financial support is taken as a loan, the repayment term can be set at up to ten years. Businesses can access the first 12 months of that finance interest-free and charge-free, as the government will cover the first 12 months of interest payments and any lender-levied charges.

The government is providing the lenders with a guarantee of 80% on each loan (subject to a per-lender cap on claims) to give lenders confidence in continuing to provide finance to SMEs.

The borrower remains fully liable for the debt, but the lender should not demand a personal guarantee as security for loans of up to £250,000.

Personal guarantees may still be required, at a lender's discretion, for facilities above £250,000, but they exclude the borrower's principal home. Recoveries under these guarantees are capped at a maximum of 20% of the outstanding balance of the CBILS facility, after the proceeds of business assets have been applied.

For all facilities, including those over £250,000, CBILS can now support lending to smaller businesses, even where a lender considers there to be sufficient security, making more smaller businesses eligible to receive the Business Interruption Loan.

How to access the scheme

The full rules of the scheme and a list of accredited lenders is available here: <https://tinyurl.com/ujhq5k9>.

All the major banks are offering the scheme and there are 40 accredited providers in all, which include high street banks, challenger banks, asset-based lenders and smaller specialist local lenders.

You should talk to your bank or finance provider (not the British Business Bank) as soon as possible and discuss your business plan with them. If one lender turns you down, you can still approach other lenders within the scheme.

Coronavirus Large Business Interruption Loan Scheme (CLBILS)

This loan scheme is for businesses with annual turnover over £45 million. These businesses are too large to apply for the CBILS and too small for a government debt-buying programme for larger companies.

Support provided under CLBILS also carries a government guarantee of 80% and enables banks to make loans of up to £25m to firms with an annual turnover of between £45m and £250m. Where turnover is above £250m, loans of up to £50m may be made.

England only

10 Test and Trace Support Payment Scheme

The measures relating to self-isolation payments and penalties are established by each country within the UK, as they relate to health, which is a devolved responsibility.

Individuals in England who have been told to self-isolate by NHS Test and Trace on or after 28 September 2020 may be eligible to claim a £500 grant from their local authority, if they are unable to work from home and as a result will lose income.

This Test and Trace self-isolation payment can be claimed by individuals who are employed or self-employed and who also receive one of these benefits:

- Universal Credit
- Working Tax Credit
- Income-based Employment and Support Allowance
- Income-based Jobseeker's Allowance
- Income Support
- Housing Benefit
- Pension Credit

The claim for this one-off payment must be made within 14 days of the end of the period of self-isolation. Each person in the household who is self-isolating can claim this grant if they meet the conditions.

This self-isolation payment is taxable, but it is not subject to National Insurance.

11 Fines for breaking isolation

Adults who test positive for the coronavirus, or come into close contact with someone who has tested positive, must normally self-isolate for a period of 14 days. A similar requirement to self-isolate applies where the person arrives in England from a country that is not exempt from travel restrictions.

Where the test or contact occurs after 28 September 2020, the individual may be fined if they break the self-isolation conditions, unless it is for a permissible reason such as escaping domestic violence or attending a funeral of a close relative.

The individual must notify their employer that they are required to self-isolate. If they fail to do this there is a fixed penalty of £50.

The employer must not ask an employee to break their period of self-isolation and leave the place they are self-isolating, without a reasonable excuse. The employee can be asked to work at home.

Where the employer ignores this requirement and requires the employee to break self-isolation, they may receive a fine that starts at £1,000 and increases on each breach of the regulations, up to £10,000.

12 Local authority grants for businesses

Any grants made to businesses by local authorities are decided by the devolved administrations. Do not assume that a business grant announced by Chancellor Sunak applies outside England, as it may be restricted to English local authorities only.

Businesses in England can access grants from their local authority if they are severely impacted by the restrictions on socialising, as would be the case for hospitality and leisure businesses. The grants are payable at two rates, depending on the alert-level of the area:

Tier 2 areas

The local authority can decide how to award these grants and may stipulate the eligibility criteria. The amounts below are a guide to what the business may receive.

Rateable value of premises	Grant payable per month
Up to £15,000	£934
£15,001 to £50,999	£1,400
£51,000 or more	£2,100

These grants will be back-dated to the point that tier 2 restrictions were imposed in the area.

Tier 3 areas

In these areas, where businesses have been required by law to close, they can apply for a support grant from their local authority, based on the rateable value of their business premises:

Rateable value of premises	Grant payable per month
Up to £15,000	£1,334
£15,001 to £50,999	£2,000
£51,000 or more	£3,000

These grants can be paid after two weeks of closure, and will be paid every two weeks.

Scotland only

13 Self-isolation grant

Individuals who have been told to self-isolate by the Test and Protect Service in Scotland on or after 28 September 2020 may be eligible to claim a £500 grant from their local authority, if they are unable to work from home and as a result will lose income.

This self-isolation payment can be claimed by individuals who are employed or self-employed and who also receive one of these benefits:

- Universal Credit
- Working Tax Credit
- Income-based Employment and Support Allowance
- Income-based Jobseeker's Allowance
- Income Support
- Housing Benefit
- Pension Credit

Businesses will be able to access grants from their Scottish local authority in the following situations:

1. Business must close

Grants of £2,000 or £3,000 per four weeks will be payable where the business is required to close by law. The amount paid will depend on the rateable value of the premises. The grants will be paid in two-weekly instalments while the restrictions are in place.

2. Business must modify operations but remains open

Grants of £1,400 or £2,100 per four weeks will be payable where the business remains open, but is specifically required to modify its operations by protective measures under coronavirus regulations. The amount paid will depend on the rateable value of the premises. The grant will be paid in two-weekly instalments while the restrictions are in place.
